

Dryer Vent Assist Fan

If you have a dryer connection within your condominium unit but do not physically have a clothes dryer attached, you may want to cover the dryer vent opening inside the laundry closet.

There is an assist fan installed within the dryer exhaust line that operates whenever it feels air movement. If the dryer opening is uncapped, air can be pulled in from the outside exhaust vent by the air conditioner, causing the dryer assist fan to run whenever the air conditioner runs.

Blocking the dryer opening should stop this from happening, and it may also help with your electric bill.